

Danielle Yap

— Associate

Professional Practice

Danielle is an associate in Peter & Kim's Singapore office. Her practice focuses on international arbitration.

Danielle's experience covers both international commercial and investment-treaty arbitrations under LCIA, ICC, UNCITRAL and ICSID rules. She has advised clients across a broad range of sectors, including in construction, gambling, technology, fashion and licensing, agricultural and energy amongst others.

She has also advised on all aspects of the dispute resolution process including pre-dispute and non-contentious advisory work.

Prior to joining the firm, Danielle trained at an international firm in London. She gained experience working on a wide range of contentious matters in their International Arbitration, Construction Disputes and Financial Services Disputes and Investigations practices. Her experience encompasses working on cross-border disputes, arbitration-related court proceedings before the English courts, various forms of constructions disputes (international arbitration and adjudication proceedings), and financial regulatory investigations.
